Legal Cases—Ricci v Greenblatt class action

Ricci et al v. Greenblatt et al, Civil Action No. 72-469-T, (D. Mass. 1972) (class action on behalf of residents of Belchertown State School, seeking injunctive and declaratory relief to redress the state’s alleged failure to provide adequate facilities and care at the state school in violation of federal law and the U.S. Constitution). The complaint is reproduced in Benjamin Ricci, Crimes Against Humanity: A Historical Record (New York: iUniverse, 2004), 56–87. The case was settled by consent decree dated November 12, 1973, reproduced in ibid., 336–343. It was later consolidated with similar actions on behalf of residents of other state schools and the consolidated cases were settled by consent decrees dated July 25, 1977; the 1973 Belchertown State School decree was replaced by one of the 1977 decrees. The 1977 consent decrees were supplemented by a further consent decree on personnel dated July 10, 1978. The name of the defendant in the consolidated cases was changed from time to time to reflect changes in the names of the state officials responsible for the state schools.

Ricci v Okin, 537 F.Supp. 817 (D. Mass. 1982) (holding that certain proposed staff cuts at Belchertown State School and other state schools would contravene the consent decrees and Title XIX and limiting reductions at BSS to 9)

Ricci v Okin, 1992 WL 163215 (D. Mass. 1992) (granting plaintiffs' motion to extend the term of the Office of Quality Assurance, previously established to oversee implementation of the consent decrees, to the end of 1992)

Ricci v Okin, 823 F.Supp. 984 (D. Mass. 1993) (closing the federal court's oversight of the 21-year-old class actions regarding Belchertown State School and the other state schools, and supplanting and replacing the consent decrees with a court order specifying the continuing services to be provided to members of the plaintiff class)
