Association for the Study of African American Life and History.
Ninety-Fourth Annual Conference

The Association for the Study of African American Life and History (ASALH) is soliciting papers for its 94th Annual Conference. The conference theme recognizes and celebrates the struggles of Black people in the Americas to win the rights of full citizenship. With our theme, the Quest for Black Citizenship in the Americas we also recognize the 100th Anniversary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the NAACP.

ASALH invites scholars from all disciplines to present research on African and African American life, history, thought, and culture from all parts of the Diaspora. Individual papers are welcome; however, multi-paper panels are preferred. As contemporary landscapes shift in national and international politics, we look forward to these important and necessary discussions about complex issues of citizenship -- past, present, and future -- for people of African descent.

The deadline for submissions is April 30, 2009, and all presenters must be members of ASALH and register for the conference. All proposals must be submitted electronically to ASALH. For information on how to make electronic submissions, please visit www.asalh.org/94thconvention.html, or contact the Academic Program Chair, Stephanie Y. Evans, at contact@professorevans.com.
