Teaching the Anthropology of Ethnicity

David Beriss, University of New Orleans

My university is encouraging us to use fancy new software to provide an on-line version of our courses, and I have done so. Since this is the first time I have a) taught this topic and b) used on-line content, I thought I would invite comments, suggestions and critiques from colleagues. Guests may login with the username "guestviewer" and the password "guest" (don't use the quotation marks). There is, of course, a copy of my syllabus, various documents and links and, perhaps most interestingly, a few discussion forums centered on material available on the web. You can get to the course at the following address: <http://pangea.ucc.uno.edu:8010/courses/ANTH4765/> (requires password).

I'd be interested in any comments.
