SHA 2001 Call For Papers: The Archaeology of the Individual in African-American Archaeology

Chris Espenshade and John McCarthy have started to organise a symposium proposed for the January 10-13, 2001, Society for Historical Archaeology meeting in Long Beach, California. The session will focus on archaeological reflections of individuals in the African-American past, in contrast to the communities or aggregate groups to which analysis is so often limited. Papers addressing individual agency and/or social resistance are particularly welcome. The organisers will be seeking publication of the papers in an edited volume. Please contact John as soon as possible if interested in participating in both the symposium and the publication project. Symposium paperwork is due to the conference planners May 31, 2000. John can be reached at (301) 220-1876 [office], (410) 224-3402 [home], or at johnpmccarthy@archaeologist.com.
