Abstract

Strategies for leveraging technology to advance research, teaching, and scholarship will be the focus of the second annual event of the UMass Amherst Digital Quadrangle series. National Association for State Universities and Land Grant Colleges (NASULGC) Vice President for Academic Affairs David Shulenburg will explore the opportunities associated with open access to scholarly and scientific work.

This will also be your opportunity to participate in the official launch of the ScholarWorks@UMass Amherst, the new digital repository for campus researchers and scholars. Selected faculty members will reflect on their early adoption of ScholarWorks and its impact on their research and teaching. The sponsors will discuss tools and policies to enable this new paradigm.

Faculty, staff, and graduate students are invited to attend.
