Index

James A. Moore
One of the themes heard at the conference was the need for communication: the need for archaeologists working in the Northeast to know what their colleagues are doing. To this end we have attempted to begin An Index of Northeast Archaeologists. Participants filled out forms indicating their address, institutional affiliation, professional interests, and on-going projects. The following list reports the information in that order.

As this list is primarily a roster of participants in the conference, it makes no claims to being a complete index of northeastern archaeologists. Rather it is a beginning of what we hope will be a growing— and frequently revised—directory of interests, projects, skills and people.

The following abbreviations were used, in the interest of saving space. University addresses are all Departments of Anthropology, unless otherwise noted.

Ars—Archaeological Research Services, University of New Hampshire, Durham, NH 03824

Brown—Brown University, Providence, RI 02912

BU—Boston University, 232 Bay State Road, Boston, MA 02215

Amesbury, Massachusetts 01913
(CIA)
CRM in the Northeast.
Identification of avian, mammal, reptilian, amphibian faunal remains for the CIA; background research for upcoming CIA projects.

BAKER, VERNON
Division of Anthropology/Archaeology
MIT
Historical and industrial archaeology; modern material culture; research on use of 18th century ceramics as indicators of social and economic position; research on evolution of the vinyl top on the automobile.

BAKNER, RUSSELL
ICA
Prehistoric archaeology; ecological interpretation; reconstruction of paleoenvironments; mollusks in archaeology.
Estuarine adaptations in the lower Merrimack Valley (Mass.); use of land snails for reconstruction of paleoenvironments; various studies of mollusks in archaeology.

BARNES, CAROL
Dept. of Anthropology/Geography
Rhode Island College
Providence, RI 02908
Study of the dynamics of ecological and social adaptation to local environments of Southeastern New England through the study of intra- and inter-site variability through time in a restricted area; improved teaching of archaeological method and theory.
Intrasite analysis of artifact and feature distribution on four sites in Southeastern Mass.; intersite comparisons of artifact and feature distributions and the relative proportions of various artifact and feature types of Late Archaic sites in the Tauton River Valley, Mass.

BATEMAN, WILLIAM A.
UWI
Northeastern prehistory; hunting/gathering subsistence strategies
Contract archaeology in Vermont.

BELDEN, MEREDITH WEISS

Theories of environmental adaptation; quantitative/statistical methods; ethnoarchaeology; ceramic analysis; CRM; Prehistoric fishing economies in the Hudson Valley; the ecological history of ethnic adaptations in central subarctic Canada;
Chippewyan/Cree/EuroCanadian relations in the upper Churchill drainage

BRUMMER, MARTHA
ARS
Northeastern prehistory; paleoenvironmental reconstruction.
Weirs Beach site and Nasseedaton site - depositional history (soil analysis, etc.); evaluation of prehistoric site prediction models (coastal, riverine, upland); survey recording methodology - environmental variables.

BUELL, CLIFFORD
SUNY-Albany
Late Archaic and Early Woodland settlement patterns: ethnoarchaeology of the Iroquois; CRM.
Reviewing archaeological literature concerning developmental Iroquois in Eastern NY, especially changing settlement patterns; cultural resource assessment of the Eleanor Roosevelt Historic National Park, Hyde Park, NY.

BUELL, NANCY S.
SUNY-Albany
Northeast archaeology, especially Iroquoian archaeology; ethnohistory - Iroquoian linguistics (use of interdisciplinary methods to elucidate archaeological information); CRM; projectile point typologies.
Location of Proto-Iroquoian homeland using linguistics, ethnohistory, and archaeology; quantification of NY State projectile point typology; cultural resource assessment contract for National Park Service.

BUMSTED, M. PAMELA
UMass
Paleopathology; biocultural adaptation; C13 (stable carbon isotopes for diet reconstruction from skeletons); soils in archaeology; CRM; Science - including Barry Fell and BC America CMR-University of Vermont; C13 analysis of the S. Iwota massacre group (Crow Creek site).

CLAASEN-MACCLELLAND, CHERYL
Harvard
Archaeological theory: behavioral archaeology; archaeology of contemporary America; Southwest U.S.; Eastern Europe
Thesis on sociological implication of reused artifacts; estimating occupation span, based on quantity of artifacts; archaeological investigation in central Europe of the proposed matriarchy of the Neolithic; excavation of site of Selvac, 4800 BC, Yugoslavia.

CLARK, GEORGE A.
UMass
Paleopathology; cross-cultural epidemiology (living populations), cultural ecology; N America; medical anthropology.
Vertebral morphology and pathology (morphometrics) in Dickson Mound populations; tuberculosis-like disease in pre-Columbian New World (Dickson Mound populations); Harris lines; general (non-specific) indicators of stress in Dickson Mound populations; tensile strength in cancellous bone.

COLE, JOHN R.
UMass
New World archaeology - Andean, North American; cultural materialism; anthropological history and theory.
Northeastern stone structures - UMass field school; public understanding of science; applications of archaeology to contemporary issues.

COWAN, FRANK
ULU
The Northeast - the Winoski site (VT-CH-86); Middle Woodland habitation in Winoski, Vermont, contract mitigation funded by IAS/Atlanta.

COX, DEBORAH PAL
Prehistory of Northeastern U.S. - specifically southeastern New England; CRM; cultural ecology, settlement and subsistence patterns, exchange systems.
L-995 cultural resource impact statement; prehistoric study of Narragansett area in southern Rhode Island; Coastal Plain archaeological sensitivity study.

CRIDHAM, KEVIN
Northeastern archaeology, marine/underwater archaeology; lithic technology and sources.

CROSS, JOHN R.
UMass
Coastal adaptations; lithic technology; faunal analysis/taphonomy.
Boston Harbor Islands - prehistoric coastal resource utilization; Boothbay Harbor, Maine - processes of midden accumulation, coastal adaptations.

CURRAN, MARY LOU
Lawrence Academy
Groton, MA 01450
(UMass)
New England archaeology, esp. Paleo-Indian adaptation to late glacial-early postglacial environment; problems of reconstruction of paleoenvironments in frost-churned soils (identification of paleobotanical materials, paleocharcoal use of soil chemistry tests); location of spatially small, short-term occupations through survey; computer applications to archaeology, esp. three-dimensional mapping.
Analysis of materials from a NH Paleo-Indian site; sedentary and soils analysis (GSA, microtexture analysis, soil chemistry); macro and microfossil identifications (pollen, charcoal, phytoliths); geochronological studies (close-interval contour mapping); lithic analyses (use-wear, manufacturing techniques, source analysis).

C H A R A C T E R S 2 0
CURTIN, EDMUND
SUNY-Binghamton
Socio-political and spatial variability in hunting and gathering adaptations; Northeastern archaeology; history of anthropological and archaeological theory and method; lithic analysis; CRM.

Town of Catharine survey and planning (NY State Division for Historic Preservation Matching Grant); lake-river prehistoric interface project; SUNY-Binghamton 1979 archaeological field school. These related projects are directed to the study of prehistoric land-use patterns in the drainage transition between the Finger Lakes and the Susquehanna River, through the use of institutional excavation, and excavation data. Specific attention is given to the Archaic period at this time.

DAVIN, ANN K.
FAL
New England prehistory; CRM; prehistoric subsistence and settlement patterns.

Massachusetts Coastal Plain Archaeological Sensitivity Study: I-95 Archaeological Highway Survey in Southeastern Massachusetts.

DEKIN, ALBERT A., JR.
SUNY-Binghamton
CRM theory, method and technique; Southern New York prehistory; Middle Woodland cultural continuity in the Northeast. Highway archaeological survey program; numerous CRM projects in the Northeast.

DEMICO, DANIEL W.
24 No. Allen St. Albany, NY
SUNY-Albany
16th and 17th century European and Indian contact, technological and sociological approaches; ethnohistoric methodology; early European contact patterns in the Northeast; application of economic and spatial models to cultures of the Northeast. Study of evolution and transformation of Huron and other Great Lakes sociocultural systems.

DEPAOLI, REILL
Brown
Historical archaeology and ethnohistory of the eastern U.S. and Canada; American vernacular and folk architecture of Eastern U.S. European-American interaction in this region particularly during early contact period (16th C. and 17th C.); a) cultural adaptations made as a result of contact (European and Amerind) settlement and subsistence patterns, trade networks, material culture, religion; b) English and French missionary efforts among the N. American Amerind - comparison of their respective methods, attitudes and impact on the prospective converts.

1) Survey and compilation of Historic Period New England artifact collections in Rhode Island. (Ultimately hope to receive funding for the project; would result in publication of manuscript detailing survey results, i.e., location, extent and description of collections.) 2) Plan on expanding survey into northern New England, particularly Maine, where focus will be the same although may at that point be dealing with specific tribal groups, e.g., Penobssets, Passamaquoddies, etc. 3) Reconstruction of extent of early European settlement (seasonal and year round) on Maine coast; personally interested in the Penobscot Peninsula.

DINCAZE, IDA F.
UMass
Anthropology: archaeology; ethnohistory of New England; archaeological resource management; temperate forest adaptations (human); lithic analysis; etc.

Connecticut Valley prehistory; New England ethnohistory; Northfield Prehistoric Resources Assessment; Committee on Public Archaeology (SAA); locational analysis and survey methods; "esoteric stone structures" investigation; Committees: SAA, SOTA, ASCA.

ELDRIDGE, STUART
University Museum, University of Penn.
33rd and Spruce Sts., Philadelphia, PA 19104
Establishing ecological, systems framework for the interpretation and explanation of hunter/gatherer settlement and subsistence in the Northeast. This includes an interest in hunter/gatherer social organization, decision and ideological processes, and particularly, the socio-economics of the adaptive exchange strategies between human (and human and non-human) populations in specific environments. Theory and method in archaeology; function and style in lithic technology; paleoenvironmental reconstruction; geographical area - Maine and Maritime Provinces.

Researching the ecological and socio-economic ramifications and significance of early European contact along the Maine coast, both for resident indigenous peoples in a system, and for anthropological/archaeological research pursuits and design of investigation.

ELLiot, COLUMB
SUNY-Binghamton
Ethnohistory; Oneida Iroquois; CRM.

Historic archaeology, Binghamton, New York area; ethnicity and ethnohistory.

ENGELBRECHT, WILLIAM
Anthropology
1300 Elmlwood Ave., Buffalo State College
Buffalo, New York
Late Woodland, ceramic style, prehistoric social organization. Excavation of the Eaton site, West Seneca, New York (c. 1500-1550 AD); coding Iroquoian ceramic data.

EWING, ROBERT
SUNY-Binghamton
CRM; resource exploitation and utilization of Middle Woodland populations in the Northeast (particularly seasonal round and stone procurement); investigation of "early" sites and seasonal camps (Middle Woodland/Transitional Owasco) in the Northeast; similarities of functional uses for kill and butchering activity specific sites (both Northeast and Great Plains).

Archaeology of Northeast.

RITCHIE, DUNCAN
CRM in the Northeast: prehistory of Southern New England (particularly Mass. and RI); prehistoric subsistence/settlement patterns; lithic technologies, lithic analysis and replication experiments; exchange systems (particularly in the Northeast); paleo-environmental reconstruction.

Researching possible lithic source areas in southeastern New England; preliminary functional analysis of several Middle and Late Archaic lithic technologies from Eastern and Southeastern Mass.;
replication experiments with a number of lithic materials from Eastern Mass., exploring the use of several alternative manufacturing techniques (hard hammer, soft hammer percussion); investigating changing patterns of resource utilization in several large drainage basins in Eastern and Southeastern Mass. (during Archaic-Woodland periods); 1-495 Cultural Resource Impact Statement.

RITCHIE, WILLIAM
State Archaeologist Emeritus
NY State Museum
Northeastern U.S. archaeology; NY archaeology; culture history; typology and artifact interpretation
Interest in science, empiricism, Native American cultures.

ROBERTS, MICHAEL E.
ICA
Resource management; remote sensing; lithic technology; settlement patterns; archaeoastronomy; archaeological management.

Administrative Director, ICA; management of cultural resources in the Northeast, Northeastern Outer Continental Shelf; Kingdom of Jordan; developing public education programs in archaeology.

ROENE, KARL
NY State Office of Parks & Recreation Historical archaeology; historical archaeology's role in today's world; window glass thickness studies, glass bottles and containers;
Anthropology; ethnography-- acculturation, enculturation.

Report concerning the 1974, 1975, and 1976 archaeological excavations at the Olana State Historic Site. Olana was the estate of Frederick Church, the famous Hudson River School painter. He and/or members of his family occupied the site from 1860 until it became a New York State Historic Site. Window glass thickness studies. Comparative studies of 19th century archaeologically recovered window glass samples have shown a gradual thickening of window panes through time and seem to indicate the possibility of setting up regional thickness chronologies while taking into account such factors as building function, supply routes, technological advances, trade patterns, economies, etc. Research on the enlargement of the Erie Canal in preparation for writing a report on 1978 salvage excavations on the towpath of the 1841 Schoharie Aqueduct over the Schoharie Creek, Montgomery County, New York.
