

Society for Georgia Archaeology Publishes
Two-Part Volume on African-American Archaeology

By J. W. Joseph

The Society for Georgia Archaeology (SGA) has published "Material Reflections of Georgia's African-American Past" as a two-part edition of Early Georgia, issues 35(2) and 36(1). Guest edited by J. W. Joseph and containing 11 articles, these publications look at African-American landscapes, architecture, material culture, and lifeways as revealed by archaeological research in Georgia.

Articles in these volumes include: African-American Life in Georgia Through the Archaeological Looking Glass, by J. W. Joseph; Data Recovery Excavations at the St. Annes Slave Settlement, St. Simons Island, Georgia, by Scott Butler; African-American Contributions to Savannah's Historic Landscapes, by Bradford Botwick; Landownership and Hardship: Interpreting the Landscape of an African-American Community in Eastern Gwinnett County, 1870-1950, by Jeffrey L. Holland; Archaeology of a Tenant Farming Landscape: The Free Cabin Site, Hephzibah, Georgia, by Natalie Adams and Mark Swanson; Residential and Communal Landscapes at the Ford Plantation Development, Richmond Hill, Georgia, by Thomas G. Whitley; South of Hell's Gate: Life at the North End Plantation, Ossabaw Island, Georgia, by Daniel T. Elliott; Necessity or Commodity?: An Analysis of the Ford Plantation Colonoware, Bryan County, Georgia, by Nicole Isenbarger; Home-crafted "Brick" Grave Markers in the African-American Section of Memory Hill Cemetery, Milledgeville, Georgia, by James J. D'Angelo; "A City Slave is Almost a Freeman" . . . Or Not?, by Rita F. Elliott; and Springfield: An Archaeological History of a Free African-American Community from the Revolution to the Civil War, by J. W. Joseph.

Compilations of these articles in pdf format on CD are available for purchase. To order, submit a check for $11 made payable for the Society for Georgia Archaeology as well as a letter with your name and address to J. W. Joseph, New South Associates, 6150 East Ponce de Leon Avenue, Stone Mountain, GA 30083. Early Georgia is a copyrighted publication and unauthorized distribution of articles is prohibited by law. For further information about the SGA as well as membership applications, visit www.thesga.org.