In this session,
you will:

1. Reflect on social justice work in libraries
2. Explore strategies for long and short term planning
3. Identify partners
4. Examine library and campus culture

1.

Brainstorm

What is social justice work in the library?

Social justice brainstorm

1-minute paper:

Think about your library
and how is it structured.

Can you describe it?

How do you see social justice as part of this work?

Social justice brainstorm

In your group, pick out keywords and short phrases and write them on your post-it notes.

Can you organize them into groups?

Session Outline

1. Background and context
2. The project
 - a. Partner interviews, service design, organizational culture
 - b. Toolkit
 - c. Case study
3. Lessons learned
4. Mapping social justice on your campus

UNH Library Diversity & Inclusion Steering Committee

In November of 2016, DISC was formed and charged with drafting a statement in support of campus diversity and inclusion efforts

To our campus community,

The UNH Library welcomes and supports all UNH students, faculty, staff, and community members regardless of one's race, color, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, class, religion, disability, age, ancestry, national or ethnic origin, genetic information, or veteran, marital, or citizenship status. We celebrate diversity within our campus community and recognize that embracing the values of inclusion and equity for all makes us stronger.

The UNH Library honors the values of our profession and our University by upholding your rights to open and free access to information tools and resources, privacy and confidentiality, the exchange of ideas, and learning environments that are free of discrimination, harassment, and intimidation. We continue to collect and preserve scholarship that is inclusive of many voices and experiences. We reaffirm these beliefs, values, and our role in our community by providing opportunities for discourse, reflection, and learning in our virtual and physical spaces.

The faculty and staff of the UNH Library are committed to diversity, inclusion, equity, and social justice. We pledge to act in solidarity with our community members by:

- Listening to you
- Educating ourselves actively and continuously
- Responding when we witness discrimination, harassment, bullying, and intimidation
- Upholding the UNH Discrimination and Discriminatory Harassment Policy
- Serving as accountable partners, especially to those who have been oppressed, made vulnerable, or marginalized, as we design, revise, and implement library policies and practices

We invite you to approach us - to use our library buildings and resources, to talk with us, to ask for help, and to share your feedback about the library. We encourage you to work with us to create an inclusive, collaborative, safe and welcoming space for all in our community, a space where people feel emboldened to learn and grow and thrive.

Our library is for everyone. You belong here.

Service Design

Talk to your partners

- What is your mission and vision?
- Who do you primarily support?
 - Tell us about your users and their needs.
- Tell us about your programming, events, spaces, knowledge needs, resources, spaces, etc.
- What are the biggest challenges to your work?
 - Structure? Staffing? Funding?
- What are your greatest successes and strengths?
- What do you see as gaps in campus support?

An aerial photograph of a winding asphalt road carved into a steep, rocky, brownish-orange hillside. The road curves sharply in several places. A small white car is visible on one of the curves. The terrain is rugged and appears to be in a desert or mountainous region.

“If you are trying to drive up a hill, neutral is basically the same as reverse”

This work shines a light on everything about your organization

The Good

Many kind, creative, compassionate, and radical individuals in our library

Strong tie-in to campus strategic plan and high level initiatives

The Bad

Cannot assume that decisions-makers see the role of the library within the social justice landscape

This work is seen as political, which raises red flags

The Messy

This work takes time and patience

Social justice response planning: a two-tiered toolkit

Tools for:

- Identifying partners, challenges, and resources
- Establishing relationships
- Creating awareness and communication channels
- Professional development
- Exploring campus culture
- Developing an action plan

Tools for:

- Understanding the tension event
- Activating existing resources and expertise
- Showing support
- Implementing an action plan

Applying the toolkit

Plan & Prepare

Review policies for inclusion in the IR

Room reservation policies

Display & exhibit policies

Review collection policies

Create a shared mission in the library as a partner

Take Action

Reach out to partners

Offer space

Social media campaign

Visualization of statistics on LCD screens

Digitize for IR

Repurpose past exhibits

Highlight collections

Lessons learned

Radical, Rogue & Political

Any actions can be seen as unsanctioned, unorthodox, and political. Be prepared to defend all levels of work.

Communicate, Listen & Hear

Don't assume that communication happens naturally

Patience

Remember that everyone is learning and improving. Be ready for more no's than yes's at the beginning.

Out of the Woodwork

You will be surprised who has an opinion and who is upset.

Celebrate

There is a lot of emotional labor in this work. Celebrate your victories.

Your Students

Don't forget that students workers are part of the library. They should be considered, listened to, and involved
