

Unlocking the Past: A Public Domain Exhibit

Item Type	article;article
DOI	https://doi.org/10.7275/snwr-fw44
Download date	2025-08-07 22:14:14
Link to Item	https://hdl.handle.net/20.500.14394/23689

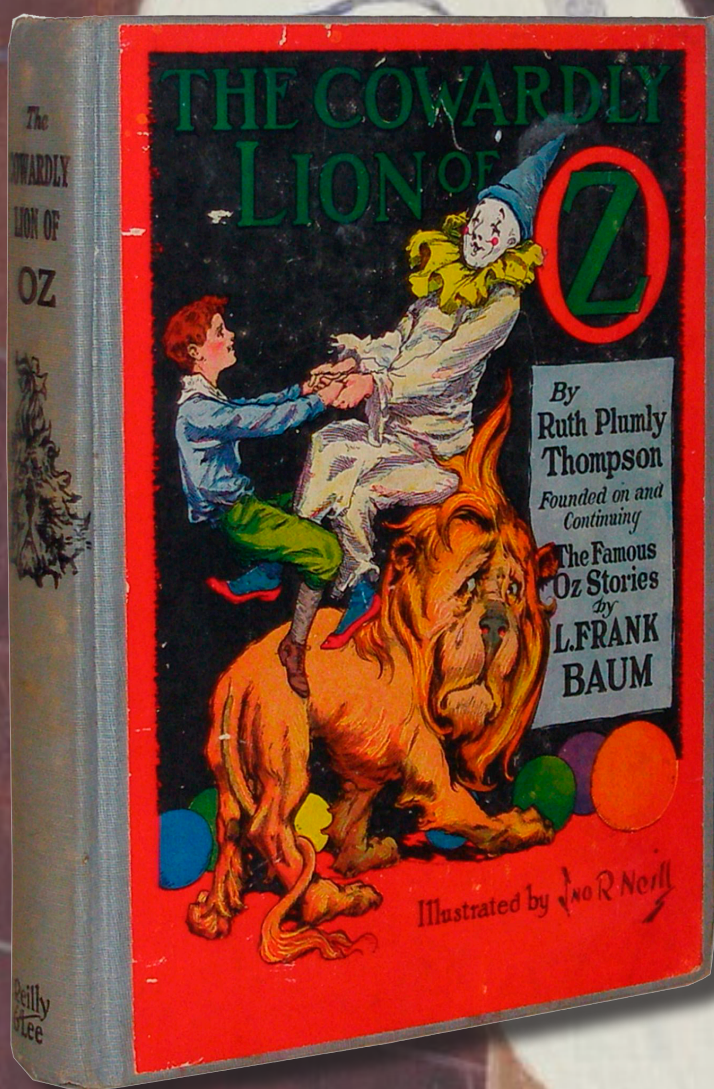

UNLOCKING THE PAST

A PUBLIC DOMAIN EXHIBIT

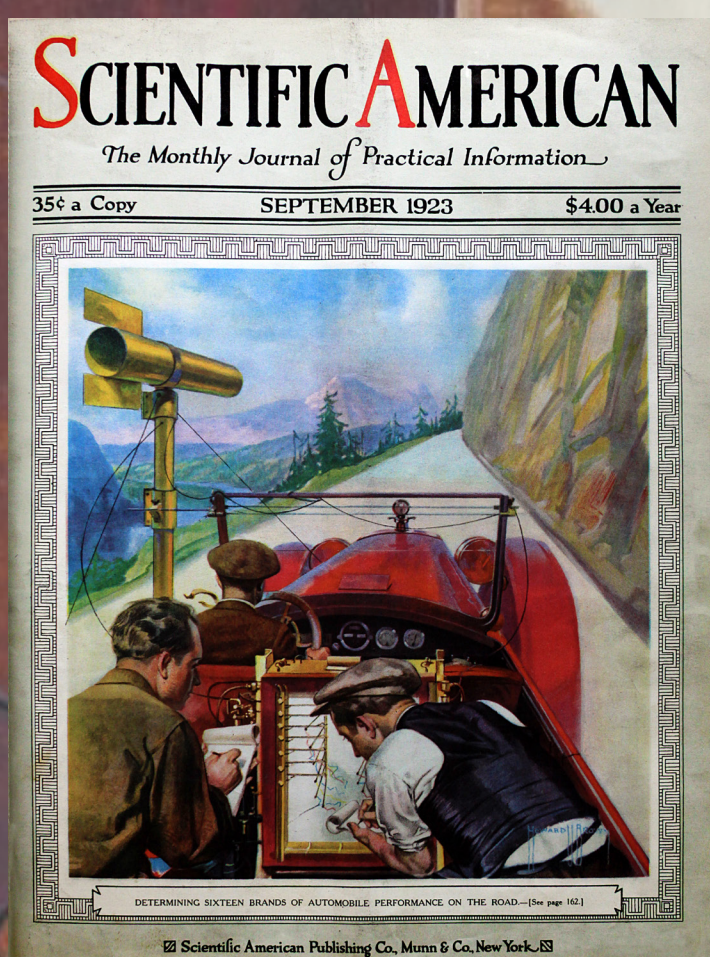

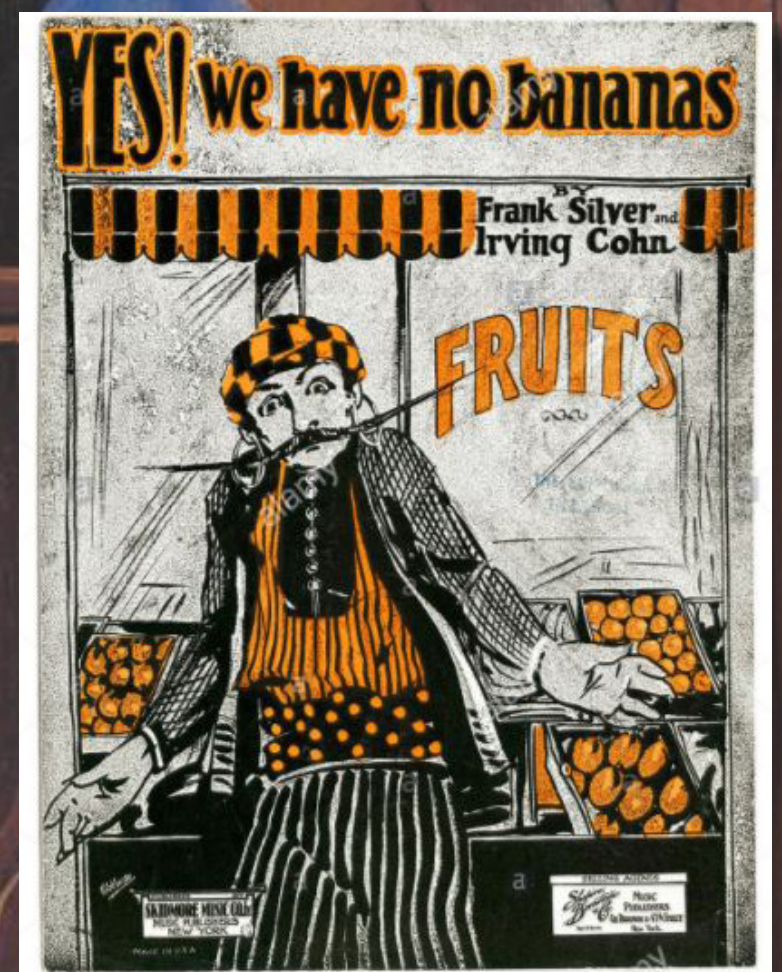

JANUARY 28 through MAY 24, 2019

Science and Engineering Library
Lederle Graduate Research Center Lowrise
Floor 2, Room A273
UMass Amherst

On January 1, 2019, works published in the U.S. in 1923 came out of copyright and are now free for public use and sharing. To celebrate, the UMass Amherst Libraries are curating an exhibit in the Science and Engineering Library featuring some of these materials. This is the first time since 1998 that the public domain has grown substantially, unlocking movies, music, paintings, sculpture, books, poems, and scientific publications. The exhibit features works by Willa Cather, Agatha Christie, Cecil B. DeMille, Sigmund Freud, Robert Frost, Kahlil Gibran, Rudyard Kipling, Pablo Picasso, Virginia Woolf, and others.

RECEPTION

Thursday, January 31

9:30-11:30 a.m.

FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

UMassAmherst

Libraries
Science and Engineering