

University of Massachusetts
Amherst

Who Mentored Whom?: A Conversation About Leadership

Item Type	Poster
Authors	Boss, Sam;Rabinowitz, Celia
DOI	10.7275/xzvk-4y45
Rights	Attribution-NonCommercial-ShareAlike 4.0 International
Download date	2026-05-14 04:05:01
Item License	http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-sa/4.0/
Link to Item	https://hdl.handle.net/20.500.14394/595

Who Mentored Whom?: A Conversation About Leadership

Celia Rabinowitz, Keene State College – Sam Boss, Lyndon State College

Our Story

Celia and Sam, directors at public institutions in Vermont and New Hampshire, were paired together and over a year shared regular phone calls and exchanged site visits providing time and space for questions, advice, and sharing ideas.

Why?

- Develops a critical support system
- Connects librarians from different libraries with different experiences
- Allows for open, honest, and direct communication

What Did We Learn?

- What can you expect from a mentor-mentee relationship?
- What are the benefits of working together in this capacity?

Your Story

Institutional Culture / Politics

Staff

Budgeting

Professional Development