

Chapter 1, Figure 1.2

Item Type	image:image
Authors	Tiner, Ralph W.
Download date	2026-05-13 03:29:09
Link to Item	https://hdl.handle.net/20.500.14394/50269

a

b

Figure 1.2. Marshes dominated by herbaceous species are the most common type in North America, while tidal flats predominate in regions with extremely high tidal ranges: (a) Nova Scotia salt marsh and (b) Maine tidal flat.