

University of Massachusetts
Amherst

Making Worlds Accessible. Essays in Honor of Angelika Kratzer

Item Type	article;article
Authors	Bhatt, Rajesh;Frana, Ilaria;Menéndez-Benito, Paula
DOI	https://doi.org/10.7275/w10a-pv24
Download date	2025-03-15 08:13:59
Link to Item	https://hdl.handle.net/20.500.14394/2061

Contents

Editors	i
Contributors	ii
Preface	iii
1. Death on the Freeway: imaginative resistance as narrator accommodation Daniel Altshuler and Emar Maier	1
2. A comparative note on the Bangla particle to and the German particle doch Josef Bayer	17
3. The child in semantics Valentine Hacquard	32
4. “Relative pronouns” as agreeing complementizers: German welch- Dalina Kallulli	47
5. Attitude embedding predicates and indexicals under role shift in ASL Elena Koulidobrova and Kathryn Davidson	59
6. Universal NPs, distributivity and dependent indefinites in Mandarin Chinese Jo-Wang Lin	72
7. Quotes as complements: A Kratzerian approach Emar Maier	91
8. Clauses as semantic predicates: difficulties for possible-worlds semantics Friederike Moltmann	101
9. Silent anchors: the case for unpronounced indexicality Orin Percus	118
10. Do Italian factives entail their presupposition? Yes, but... Florian Schwarz, Kajsa Djärv and Jérémy Zehr	150
11. The representation of Focus, Givenness and Exhaustivity Roger Schwarzschild	167
12. Three puzzles about de se Hazel Pearson and Thomas Roeper	193